

Technology Acceptance Model (TAM)

Fred D. Davis

DEFINITION

Use intention is driven by perceived usefulness and perceived ease of use.

KEY POINTS

- Perceived usefulness → attitude and intention
- Perceived ease of use → usefulness and attitude
- Intention → actual system use
- Use for individual-level acceptance of a technology

REFERENCE

Davis, F.D. (1989) 'Perceived usefulness, perceived ease of use, and user acceptance of information technology', MIS Quarterly, 13(3), pp. 319-340.